

6516208862.txt

I think that Satellite radio should be available to anyone willing to pay for it... you don't stop weather channels from being part of a cable package that people pay for. People can check the local stations or pay for an additional service that they can rely on. There is no way that this should be regulated.